CMI creates a new kind of tailgating beast... Have yours ready for next season.

The MINIGATOR

(Grove City, Ohio) Creative Mobile Interiors has set out to create a 'tailgating vehicle for the times.' It is smaller, more efficient, and less expensive – yet it packs a big punch. This new offering is based and built on the Ford Transit Connect platform. This mini, commercial-based Ford was chosen because of its size and space. The vehicle is simple, efficient, and stylish, even before the customization begins. A layout and amenities are already drawn up for this vehicle, but as with anything CMI does, it can be altered and customized to fit you.

The MINIGATOR's cabin (driver/passenger area) will remain untouched other than possible upgrades at an additional cost. The main 'cargo area' of the Transit is transformed into a tailgating paradise. One half of the vehicle features a 'floating' counter top with flip-up extension, power outlets to run small appliances or a crock pot, storage room for a removable grill and removable satellite receiver, and a built-in bar. The grill and satellite receiver will come out of the vehicle and set up adjacent to it to create an area that is open and inviting for friends and visitors. As if that wasn't wonderful enough... the other half (divided by a solid partition) features an all important bathroom. Yes, a bathroom. This area will have its own private entrance via the sliding side door opposite the kitchenette/bar area. The bathroom features a self-contained toilet and storage for all of the essentials.

You might think that this little cargo vehicle couldn't hold anything more, but that is not the case. The crowds will gather 'round when they see what MINIGATOR has behind its rear doors. The doors swing open to reveal a 32" LED TV, four speakers, a storage cabinet, a trash receptacle, and a 70 quart cooler that slides out for easy beverage access. Store some fold out chairs in the restroom when you are traveling to the game, and once you're there, take them out and set up the most unique tailgating experience around.

People will envy the functionality and drivability of you MINIGATOR, and the choices that you will be able to make to customize it. From the flooring and cabinetry to the décor: CMI will make your tailgating vehicle fit you like your favorite team jersey. Call us today to receive more information, and check out the MINIGATOR section of our website.
